At Baker College, we believe that higher education is about more than taking courses and earning a degree. Student Life is an essential part of the college experience and includes both extracurricular and co-curricular opportunities. We provide, support, and encourage activities in leadership, social responsibility, citizenship, volunteerism, and recreation.

The College provides leadership in developing a student-centered community that supports students' academic, career, and personal goals. We strive to create an environment that promotes civility, respect, and equity among all members of the BakerProud community.

Unique Factors Impacting the 2020-2021 Academic Year

The world faced an unprecedented array of challenges during the 2020 calendar year. Most notably, the COVID-19 pandemic drastically impacted higher education and our normal way of life. Social injustice, political division, and economic downturn also affected our lives in a significant way. Despite these circumstances, BC students demonstrated outstanding agility, resilience, and perseverance in helping one another and achieving their goals.

L.E.A.D—Demonstrating Leadership Through

Civic Engagement and Networking

Baker College students hone their leadership and networking skills by working with local, state, and national affiliates. By doing so, students gain a broader perspective of the issues and concerns impacting the lives of those around them. It also gives students a platform to have their voices heard and provide meaningful contributions to their respective areas of study.

Students in action

Voices for Children

“The fact that [Baker College] would do a fundraiser during the pandemic and also provide it to the children here means so much. You are giving their voice so much purpose.”

We seek out opportunities for students to become active in their communities through service learning and volunteerism. During the pandemic, many BC students stepped up by becoming essential workers, volunteering to assist with vaccine distribution, and supporting our most vulnerable populations.

We applaud our students for generously giving their time and resources to provide practical assistance to underserved and underrepresented groups within the community.

The 2020 – 2021 academic school year presented many unique challenges in higher education, including the COVID-19 pandemic. The inability to gather students together for campus events put an entirely new lens on student engagement. We are very proud of the effort and creativity of our Student Life team, residence hall professionals, club leaders and student leaders for their enthusiasm to reconsider what engagement looks like and to redevelop events in the digital sphere.

Their efforts made it possible for BC students to become part of the campus community, even from a social distance. With that said, we are looking forward to the season when we can return to sharing time, ideas and helping hands with our students and communities in a more personal setting while maintaining our ability to develop personal connections in a virtual environment.
